Dear Greg,

We would like to thank you and McKinsey & Company for your important contribution to the work of the Bush-Clinton Katrina Fund (BCKF). The pro bono services you provided the Fund were invaluable. Your wise counsel and commitment to excellence were essential in establishing the Fund and leading the organization in the proper direction.

We are pleased to share with you BCKF's final report. The report demonstrates BCKF's strategy of channeling funds to where they would do the most good in the shortest amount of time through grants to experienced non-profit organizations. In our view, that strategy has been successful. In the Gulf, you will now find families that have been reunited, people receiving counseling, stores open for business, children playing in parks, and students back in school. More work remains to be done, but BCKF made a significant difference thanks to your assistance.

Once again, thank you for helping to make the Bush-Clinton Katrina Fund a meaningful and effective effort to help those affected by Hurricane Katrina.
